

MEMORANDUM

TO:

Trustee Anthony Puccio, Chairperson

Economic and Community Development Committee

FROM:

Nicholas J.M. Partipilo, Administrative Intern, Office of the Village

Manager / ///

MEETING DATE: June 10, 2019

SUBJECT:

Coin-Operations and Amusement Tax - Amendments to Section

110.20 of the Village Code

Recently, Mark Czarnowski, business owner of The Game Show, signed a lease to open a classic pinball and vintage arcade at Yorktown Center this summer. Mr. Czarnowski asked that the Village evaluate our coin-operations and amusement tax structure. As this matter pertains to a business regulation within the Village, staff is bringing the matter to the Economic and Community Development Committee (ECDC). A copy of the existing Village Code as it pertains to Coin-Operated Amusement devices is attached for reference purposes. For clarity purposes, coin-operated amusement devices like arcade machines are subject to local regulations and are not subject to the provisions set forth within the Illinois Video Gaming Act.

BACKGROUND

The current coin-operations fee structure assesses a $200 license fee per machine for the first 10 machines at a business with a $75 license fee after the initial 10 machines. Mr. Czarnowski requested that Lombard change the structure of our coin-operation and amusement tax fee system, as detailed in the attached correspondence received by the Village. He does not believe it is fair to pay the coin-operated amusement tax as his fee structure at his existing establishment in Joliet is that of a flat entrance fee to play unlimited games; therefore the machines are not "coinoperated". Staff decided that a re-evaluation of our structure was reasonable, but opted to not completely change our system for the following reasons:

- the recommended change would make it so each business paying the fees would 1. be doing so in a different structure
- the newly proposed flat rate is easily quantifiable for all involved parties
- no other businesses in Lombard have requested a change in fee structure so we would be adjusting the structure just to fit the desires of a specific business.
- after completion of the comparative analysis, staff found that no other local 4. municipalities have a fee structure similar to what Mr. Czarnowski was requesting

After guidance from the Village Attorney, staff is still placing The Game Show under the range of the coin-operated machine fee, as opposed to the amusement tax. With Mr. Czarnowski's first request to assess a flat rate amusement tax charge in lieu of a machine license in mind, staff also completed research and the attached comparative analysis between Lombard and 12 other municipalities in the area regarding coin-operation fees and amusement taxes. Additionally, staff compiled data from each of the businesses in Lombard that either pays a coin-operations fee or the amusement tax. From this effort, staff created five recommendation options to the Committee regarding changing or maintaining our current fee structure.

At the June 10th ECDC meeting, the Committee will hear a presentation from staff including an overview, options to be considered, and specifics on coin-operations and the amusement tax. Staff is seeking the input and interest of the ECDC as to their level of support for considering maintaining the current ordinances and taxes regarding coin-operations and the amusement tax, or altering the related fees and taxes.

Staff recommends the committee support Option A, Proposal 1: a flat fee of $75 per machine license. This recommendation is based upon the information gathered from the comparative analysis regarding coin-operations and amusement tax fees from other local municipalities. The transition from our current coin-operations to the proposed change would put Lombard at the average cost regarding coin-operations when compared to other municipalities. Should the ECDC offer its recommendation, it will be forwarded to the Village Board for consideration.

ACTION REQUESTED

Staff requests the ECDC provide a recommendation to the Board on coin-operations and the amusement tax within the context and scope of the Committee. Staff recommends the ECDC to review all options but recommends choosing Option A, Proposal 1.

EXISTING VILLAGE CODE PROVISIONS

- (E) The license year for all coin-operated amusement device licenses shall be from July 1st of each year through June 30th of the following year.
- (F) After December 31st of each year, any person who applies for any license(s) under subsections (B) above shall only be required to pay one-half of the then applicable license fee.
