Follow your child's interests in choosing books. Children's librarians can help you with high-quality book selections on a wide range of topics.

During the holidays, consider reinforcing the value of books by giving them as gifts.

"Books are great conversation starters. They're also just a lot of fun and can help create wonderful memories, particularly during the holidays when you're spending extra time together," Navsaria said.

keyboard for both first time players and accomplished instrumentalists.

A built-in metronome makes practice sessions a breeze, and features such as scale tuning, octave shift, and transpose help introduce musical concepts.

One hundred high-quality, built-in tones covering a range of instruments, including piano, wind, percussion, and acoustic instruments.

Lighten their load

If you remember lugging around heavy textbooks during your own student days, consider lightening the load of your gift recipient with a high-quality e-reader.

Look for a model with note-taking features, adjustable lighting to protect eyes, and portability.

A color screen is also a good idea, as it will make diagrams and charts easier to examine if your student will be reading textbooks on the device.

Bring STEM within reach

With the advanced features of a next-generation graphing calculator, the fx-CG50 PRIZM can support students through middle school, high school, and into college.

With Natural Textbook Display and an intuitive icon menu, students will find the calculator incredibly easy to use. Its 3D graphing and improved catalog functions allow for greater engagement and real-life application in the mathematics classroom, and a host of compatible resources available at casioeducation.com can set them up for success.

Because it's approved for the SAT, PSAT, ACT, and AP tests, your gift will be helping them prepare for a bright future.

Help them keep time

Is your student an athlete? Whether they run track, do swim team, or tackle contact sports head-on, a durable, water-resistant sports watch can help them track their speed and progress throughout the season.

Expand their world

While many people today get their news by scanning headlines on apps, a deeper dive can improve literacy, expand knowledge, and foster an understanding of the world. Consider gifting your student a subscription to a high-quality newspaper or news magazine.
